TIER 1: Companies You've Previously Worked With

Email Template - Version 1 (Recommended)

Subject Line: Reconnecting: Let's Scale Your Conversions Together

Hi [First Name],

I hope this message finds you well. I've been reflecting on my time working with your team at [Company Name], and I wanted to reach out with an opportunity I think could be valuable for you.

During my time as an outside funding source for your company, I had the privilege of getting to know your clients, your product offerings, and your fulfillment process intimately. I understood not just the funding piece, but the entire journey from initial prospect conversation through to product delivery. That comprehensive perspective gave me insight into what truly serves your clients best.

I'm now offering independent funding specialist services, and I wanted to explore working together in this new capacity. Here's why I think this makes sense:

Behind the Scenes Work Although you may not have had direct contact with me, you may have seen my name in the Sales Channel, Payment Portal, or Slack handoff channel, so that you might recognize my name. I approach funding not as a transaction, but as a genuine opportunity to find the best possible terms for your clients. I don't just connect prospects with any lender, I take the time to understand their financial situation and match them with options that truly work in their favor. This approach builds client confidence and satisfaction, which ultimately strengthens your brand.

I Understand Your Business I know your product pricing, your typical client profile, and your sales process. There's no learning curve. I can integrate seamlessly and immediately add value.

Better Terms for Your Clients My focus is always on finding clients the most favorable funding options whether that's better interest rates, more flexible terms, or creative solutions that beat what might be available through payment plans or in-house financing. When your clients feel like they got a great deal, they're more likely to move forward confidently.

Performance-Based Partnership I work on a 4% commission basis where compensation is earned only when a prospect successfully gets funded and completes their purchase. Zero upfront cost, zero risk to you. My success is directly tied to your success.

Here's how it would work, your sales team transfers a qualified prospect to me through your preferred communication platform. I handle the entire funding conversation and find them the best available options, stay in touch until they're funded, and even support the fulfillment process if needed. You get daily updates, and I provide the same level of expertise and care you've experienced before.

I'd love to discuss how we can scale your conversions together. Would you be open to a brief 15-minute call this week to explore this?

Looking forward to reconnecting.

TIER 2-5: New Prospect Companies

Email Template - Version 1 (Recommended)

Subject Line: Helping Your Qualified Prospects Say “Yes” to Your Program

Hi [First Name],

I’m reaching out because I believe I can help solve a specific challenge that high-ticket coaching and education companies face—and I think [Company Name] might be experiencing it too.

Here’s what I’ve observed: You attract serious, qualified prospects who genuinely believe in your program and want to commit. But then, at the final stage, they hit a barrier: the upfront cost. They love what you offer, they trust you, but they don’t have the full amount available right now.

This is where I come in.

Who I Am

I'm Lynne Faulkner, an independent funding specialist. I've spent the past 5+ years helping high-ticket programs remove this final barrier by connecting prospects with the best possible funding options. I've successfully funded 5,000+ clients, and my approach is different from typical funding solutions.

How I'm Different

I don't just connect prospects with any available lender. I take the time to understand their financial situation, their goals, and their constraints. Then I match them with the option that truly serves them best—whether that's a personal loan, a 0% credit card, or a creative combination of solutions. My focus is always on finding them favorable terms that make them feel confident about moving forward.

When your prospects feel like they got a great deal on their funding, they're more enthusiastic about purchasing your program. That confidence translates to better client outcomes and stronger brand loyalty.

How It Works

Your sales team transfers a qualified prospect to me through your preferred communication platform. I spend 20-30 minutes understanding their financial situation and matching them with the best lender options from my vetted network. I guide them through the application process, stay in touch daily until they're funded, and provide you with regular updates. Once funded, I even support the fulfillment process to ensure a smooth experience.

Why This Matters for [Company Name]

- Better client experience: Your prospects get funding terms that actually work in their favor
- Higher conversions: Prospects who might otherwise walk away can now move forward
- Zero risk: Performance-based compensation (4% commission) means you only pay when it works
- Seamless integration: Minimal training required; I integrate directly into your existing sales process
- Proven track record: 5,000+ clients funded, average 5-day funding timeline

The Bottom Line

I'm not here to replace your existing processes. I'm here to enhance them by ensuring that qualified prospects who want to say "yes" to your program can actually do so—with funding terms that make them feel confident and satisfied.

I'd love to discuss how this could work specifically for [Company Name]. Would you be open to a brief 15-minute call this week?

Subject Line: Remove the Final Barrier to Your Conversions

Hi [First Name],

I work with high-ticket coaching and education companies to solve a specific problem: qualified prospects who want to commit but can't access the full program cost upfront.

The Challenge

Your prospects love your program and believe in the value. But when they realize they need to pay the full amount upfront, many drop off—even though they're genuinely interested.

The Solution

I'm an independent funding specialist. I help these prospects access personal loans and credit card financing with the best possible terms. My focus is always on finding them favorable options that make them feel confident about moving forward.

When your prospects feel they got a great deal on their funding, they're more enthusiastic about purchasing your program.

How It Works

Your sales team transfers a qualified prospect to me. I understand their situation, match them with the best lender, guide them through the application, and stay in touch until they're funded. You get daily updates. I work on a 4% commission basis—you only pay when it works.

Why This Matters

- 5,000+ clients successfully funded
- Average 5-day funding timeline
- Focus on finding clients the best possible terms
- Zero upfront cost, zero risk to you
- Seamless integration into your sales process

I'd love to explore if this could work for [Company Name]. Would you be open to a brief call?

Key Differentiators in These Emails

1. Client-Centric Focus The emails emphasize finding clients the best terms, not just any terms. This positions you as genuinely invested in their success.

2. End-to-End Expertise Both versions reference your understanding of the entire business—from funding through fulfillment. This is a powerful differentiator.

3. Warm & Advisory Tone The language is professional but approachable. You're positioned as a trusted advisor, not a salesperson.

4. Performance-Based Confidence The 4% commission structure is presented as a sign of confidence in your ability to deliver results.

5. Zero Risk Positioning Emphasizing “you only pay when it works” removes objections before they arise.

6. Professional Language Uses “compensation” and “commission” instead of “I get paid”—maintaining professional tone throughout.
